
Kroll's Threat Management Webinar

September 29, 2020

Matthew Dumpert, Kroll

Vern Abila, Abila Security & Investigations

Dr. Glenn Lipson, Diplomate in Forensic Psychology

What is Threat Management?

- Origin of threats
- Community of threat management professionals
- Multi-disciplinary process
- Training, education and increased awareness
- Underlying goal(s) of threat management

Threat Management Investigation

- Understanding grievance
- Gathering of facts and timeline(s)
- Escalation and de-escalation
- Friction points
- Mental health considerations
- Drugs/alcohol considerations

- “Whole Person Approach” and treating threat actors as people
- Perception vs. reality
- “Pathway to Violence”
- Red flag indicators of potential violence
- Boundary probing
- Perseveration
- Triggering events
- Stabilizing factors and de-stabilizing factors
- Ability, proximity and resources of threat actor

Intervention and Mitigation

- Well informed
- Creative use of all available resources
- Physical security considerations

Case Management

- Synchronization of multidisciplinary team
- Plan for the unexpected

Questions?

- Type your questions in the 'Chat' section of the toolbar
- Contact us at securityriskmanagement@kroll.com
- Visit www.kroll.com for more information about our services

Thank you for joining! We hope you found this session informative.